What we have just started is for me to go through all the requests with Kris and Kari. We are placing items on the schedule as tentative based on the location and type of event. Those will show on your calendar and will be easy to see and for you to give final approval. We will then be able to assign a lead person and begin doing our staff work to prepare. The other items are being typed up into a proposed regret list. You will be able to scan through and decide if we are making the correct reccomendation. You will also have a list of items that you can refer to in case you are questioned during your travels.

I have a folder for you today and you can let me know if you think the process will work for you. Thanks.

Mike

Mike - has the gov's office been invited to many June/July events lately? I have seen no requests - wondering is there a better way for me to keep up with requests -vs- waiting to get to Juno to read the hard copies of requests that land on Kari's desk? I'd think it would be easy to start faxing and emailing all requests to the Anch office also, and/or to my home office so I won't be missing the many events that Alaskans are expecting. NOT a long and difficult exercise - short and sweet just telling me when and where and I can judge from there whether I should go or send someone.

Pls have Kari begin this today. Thank you

Governor - the Department of Law does review all of the appropriation bills and makes recommendations for your consideration. We will receive a fairly comprehensive document from them. All agencies are reviewing the budget bills and we will use all of that information to make recommendations to you for vetoing, reducing, or retaining appropriations. Hope this helps! KJR

Dear Governor Palin, I guess I have to clarify one thing, we do have the "supplemental 21.5 million" for oil and gas which is for AGIA and other related outside counsel for oil matters, which would be "capital" budget - which we clearly do not recommend a veto for. Talis

Dear Governor Palin,

I will try to summarize what apparently is not forwarding.

When you receive the official Dept of Law bill review letter on the budget it will include a recommendation to veto the $50,000.00 appropriation for the Gateway School and Learning Center.

The Alaska Constitution prohibits the use of public funds "for the direct benefit of any religious or other private educational institution."

- There is no dispute that this would be public funds.

- We also believe this particular appropriation would benefit a religious educational institution inappropriately because under the existing four part test:

1 The benefit flows to only one private institution

2 The benefit is to aid education outside a public school

3 $50,000 is not trivial

4 The funds would be given directly to a private institution

Accordingly, in this particular instance we believe a veto is appropriate.

If you have any questions please let me know. Talis

Dear Governor Palin, I just received your message "nothing was received", if you mean the attachment I am sending it again now. If you mean the formal budget review letter, it will be coming from Ms. Behr and it has not yet been sent out. This attached mem is just an explanation of why a veto will be recommended on the funding for the one Gateway School for Constitutional reasons. As per your request I am

Ivy: has Mark Fish been appt to anything yet? It's tough trying to remember everyone on that very long list of good supporters - those who want to still help - i think this email from Bill to Mark is evidence of some of the frustration I hear from others, too, who say we've forgotten the good folks who got us here and really beleive in the change we want to see in govt, and that we're plugging in Murky, Binkley and Knowles' people more often than our own. That's the constant from Reeves, et al, also.

Just got off the flt from Naknek after visiting New Stu and Dlg. Pretty draining visits bc there were hundreds to talk to at the different community events. Nice people tho. Very nice, and "real"!

Just did the Salmon on Parade and will now do my third funeral in three days.

Very anxious for the team to begin on the budget cuts. Even out there I heard cries for SOMEONE to show fiscal restraint in state budgeting. I promised I would.

So, Mike and folks, I'm really counting on a team effort to allow me to fulfill the promise to reign in state govt growth and better prioritize where the state spends money. The Legislators were totally out of control with the capital budget and did exactly what they said they wouldn't do (remember their campaign references to the old bumper sticker: we promise we won't p*ss it away next time we have a surplus).

Hopefully OMB and Law are also finding good ways and reasons to cut many of the requests.
As part of the budget cutting exercise, Mike, can I expect direction given to cabinet members to find cuts too? I still need to know what targets we're trying to hit: are we spending less than last yr? And are we spending less than we're taking in? What level of cutting will get me to those goals? Thanks!
